CARNIVAL BALL 1965

The evening was cool and clear; the spirits, high. Bingham Gym never looked better. Under the direction of Jim McBain and his followers, the gym was transformed into a ballroom of enchantment. Mr. Brewster's "ball of crystal" is becoming a very welcomed annual attraction, casting spears of shimmering light over the dance floor. "Our Pink Knight", an ingenious flowered fountain, fascinated the dancers.

For parties to come the students and faculty will sing the praises of Lloyd Raffell's Orchestra. From the first strains to the last, dancers floated to the easy style of such favorites as "Dear Heart," "Red Roses for a Blue Lady," "Everybody Loves Somebody," and "Hello, Dolly." Everyone rose to await the arrival of Queen Joy and her court. The girls were a vision of loveliness as they glided into the "Queen's Waltz". Immediately following was the enjoyable "Grand March", a parade of glorious colors.

During intermission refreshments of punch, chips, and sandwiches were relished by all. Soon afterward all ears listened anxiously as Glenn Langley announced the results of the competition. There was but mild applause when it was learned that the senior class emerged victorious.

All too soon the hands of time drifted to 11:30; and a memorable night came to a close. The Outing Club is to be commended for a Carnival Ball which will long linger in our treasury of memories.

SCULPTURES

Beginning with springlike weather—rapidly disappearing snow—and ending with March weather—cold, windy days—carnival week posed some difficult problems for the statue builders. As work continued every day and the sculptures took shape, many taunts were passed among the workers — You call that a statue? Keep up the good work; you might get fourth place, etc. But it was all in good fun, and the final results were quite impressive: the seniors' "Peanuts" with good old Snoopy on his doghouse, a bird on him, and Lucy keeping on eye on the whole scene; the juniors' lopsided tank with "Beetle Bailey" casting a suspicious eye toward the girls' dorm; the sophomores' faithful "watchdog" Dino; and last, but surely not least, the freshmen's "Wizard of Id", complete with king, brewing pot; and, naturally, the wizard.

CORONATION

At exactly eight o'clock, six flares were lit in front of the field house, music started playing, and spot lights were turned on the throne. The sleigh bearing the queen was pulled over the field by six ski team members and the four attendants to the queen walked beside the sleigh. The spotlight soon hit the sleigh and cheers went up as the crowd saw Joy Moore, the beautiful queen of the 1965 Gould Academy Winter Carnival. The flares were planted around the throne and the queen was then escorted through a gateway made of ski poles and up the throne, followed by her attendants. The little crown bearer brought the crown up to the throne and Mr. Vachon crowned Joy. As Joy was crowned, large bonfires were lit on Mt. Abram and Sunday River. The escorts walked up the throne to be knighted and then escorted the queen and her attendants into Gehring Hall for a reception, including a reception line, pictures and refreshments.

WINTER CARNIVAL SPORTS

The annual Winter Carnival was held on Friday and Saturday, March 12 and 13. One of the main features of the Carnival was the interclass sports competition.

The entire student body gave enthusiastic support to the basketball tournament. Each class team played six games. The final outcome saw the juniors victorious and the undefeated champions of the school. The seniors and the sophomores both broke even and tied for second place. The freshmen, well, they tried.

The Carnival week and sports started with a giant slalom race at Sunday River. The juniors were again in first place, followed by the seniors and sophomores tied for second and the freshmen last.

The races continued all day Saturday. The freshmen's luck changed, and they won the snowshoe race. They were followed by the juniors, seniors, and sophomores. The seniors took the obstacle race, followed by the freshmen, juniors, and the sophomores. The juniors emerged victorious from the toboggan race, with the sophomores in second place, followed by the freshmen and the seniors.

Our thanks to the competitors, the officials, and the spectators for making these races such a success.

TEEN FOR TEEN

Have you heard of teenage trials of and by teenagers. In a growing number of United States cities a charge of speeding or other such offense may send the violator before a firm, but understanding judge and a panel of six to twelve serious teenagers—the jury. The proceedings of the hearing progress as usual until the time for the judge's decision arrives. At this point the jury retires to discuss all the aspects of the case. They consider the offender, the severity of the deed, and the damage which was or might have been done. Usually they decide only the punishment. They delve into the violator's personal life and try to determine what penalty would best suffice. Seldom do they advise a fine for they expect that it would be paid by the parents and nothing more thought of the matter. Often their advice is manual labor. Street-sweeping, snow-shoveling, and window-washing, frequently accompanied by short-term suspension of driving privileges in traffic offenses, are common penalties.

Naturally a jury of this type has no true authority, but its recommendations are carefully considered and usually followed. It has proven that a teenager law-offender is more likely to accept and abide by the decisions of his contemporaries than by those of adults, though the result is the same. This plan is being carried over from the law courts to the schools. Unfortunately this system is not in wide use today. Someday it may be; it should be. Eventually with the help of adults teenage government for teenagers may be realized. What do you think?

WHERE HAS IT GONE?

Several students have recently been discussing the lack of school spirit on our campus. This lack of spirit is a disturbing factor among part of the student body and should also be of utmost concern to the faculty, as it effects the learning atmosphere of the school.

There are those students who complain about lack of social life. These complaints usually come from those who don't bother joining any of the many activities available to them. The entire school can support the dances and our athletic teams. For others we have a variety of clubs including cheerleading, a school newspaper, outing club, several music groups, among others. There are few, if any, schools, of our size who can rival these social activities.

This is not an easy problem and it will take a certain amount of effort on the part of all students and members of the faculty to make this a institution where "school spirit" really means something. Instead of complaining, take an active part in activities. This is your school! Make the most of the opportunities offered you.

THE D. A. R. AWARD

This year the D. A. R. Good Citizenship Award was given to Jane Look by choice of both the students and faculty here at Gould. This annual award is based on the following traits: dependability, leadership, patriotism, and service to the school and the community. It is sponsored in the area of Bethel by the Rumford Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Jane, a four-year senior, has been very active in sports and music. This award is a symbol of appreciation for all her contributions.

BAUSCH & LOMB AWARD

The Bausch & Lomb Science Award has been given this year to Ray Halperin. To merit this award a senior must have attained the highest overall average taken from the ranks of at least three science courses. Ray will receive a bronze medal at graduation. The award is presented in thousands of secondary schools throughout the country; recipients are eligible to compete for science scholarships at the University of Rochester. Ray has proved his scholarship by earning an M. T. A. award and a letter of Commendation from the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

Ray, who spends much of his spare time in the chem and physics labs will attend Worcester Polytechnic Institute and is aiming for a career in chemical engineering. As an enthusiastic member of the debating society and a participant in the Senior One Act Plays, Ray rounds out his deep interest in science.

OUTING CLUB

The Outing Club controlled the campus on the week end on Nov. 20 through the 22. Twirp was the theme with boy ask girl or girl ask boy. The field house was the first scene of activities with a basketball game. Yogi Bear, calmly holding a basket, captured the spotlight at the Saturday night dance.

The committees for the Carnival Week end have been hard at work preparing an interesting schedule. They plan to have three new events, a treasure hunt, an obstacle race, and a Class C ski race.

The Carnival competition has already started with the Seniors capturing the theme title, Comic Strip Characters.

ONWARD DEBATERS

Yes, siree, the debaters have been launching debates right and left. This year's national debating topic is resolved: that nuclear weapons be controlled by an international organization. Believe me, that one sure can try a person's soul to say nothing of his talents and tactics. Nevertheless, our gallant Gould debaters have accepted this challenge, and in this connection they have already participated in three inter-scholastic contests. The first was a warm-up discussion forum at Bates. Ellen Kennett, Paula Frankeviez, Diane Burrill, Joe Pendleton, and John Goodrich were the able ones who tackled this assignment with Diane emerging as the victor from her group. Next, the fiery crew, this time consisting of Ellen Kennett and Jim Clifton for the affirmative, and Ray Halperin and John Goodrich as the negative, struck hard at the Bridgton Academy gang. Stephens High School is to be the next victim. Diane Burrill and Paul Pierce, taking the affirmative stand, and Tim Wiles and Jim Clifton, asserting the negative viewpoint, will compose the assailing force.

As you can see, debating is not all just a lot of chatter, but they do have some just for fun debates and discussions. Why, a couple of weeks ago they initiated Tim Wiles and Bill Boynton by having them, with the help of Jim Clifton and Joe Pendleton, give a debate on the policy that the United States should pursue in Vietnam, the topic, of course, having been selected in Bill's honor. What's

FRIENDS, ROMANS, COUNTRYMEN —

Lend me your ears, and I shall inform you of the latest exploits of Gould's energetic Romans. For instance, on January 9, the unforgettable Latin Club Dance was held; this was the first event of its kind and a credit to the organization. Not only was the hall tastefully decorated with red and white streamers and multi-colored balloons, but the whole atmosphere was festive and Romanish. The Forum with its vintage Roman wine was a huge success; the sibyl with the assistance of the gods was unerring in her prophecies; the two Gallic singers, Laurie and Laura, and the chariot races added much to the evening.

On February 17, there was an initiation of all first year Latin scholars who had maintained an average of 84 or above. Togaed Romans assembled for the sacred rites on the candle-lit stage of Bingham Hall. The new members were admonished by gods themselves and took the oath of membership. They received certificates of membership and tokens of the gods' favor.

Yes, you better watch out! These foreigners are rapidly infiltrating our campus. But what's more, they're planning to send delegates to a state convention; they've even put members up for election to offices in the state organization.

ALL STATE

During the week before Christmas vacation, a group of Gould Students were auditioned for either the All State Band or All State Chorus. After Christmas vacation, results were in; some students were very happy, others, very disappointed.

The following students will represent Gould at the All State Chorus: Tim King, Peter Howard, Alan Howard, Stephanie Buchanan, Jane Look, and Laura Sawyer. Barbara McNight and Charles Jacobs will represent Gould in the All State Band.

This year All State will be held in Dover-Foxcroft on April 8-10, and we would like to say that Gould Academy is very honored and pleased to be represented so well in All State this year by such a fine group of students.

next? Who knows? Why not stroll up to Mr. Vogt's room some fifth period on a Friday and find out for yourself!!

Gods Among The Plebians

On March 5, the Latin Club held its annual Roman Banquet. And what a feast it was! The menu included shrimp, chicken, onion rings, eggs, olives, cheese, grapes, and wine; and everything was served by first-rate slaves.

But before partaking of these delicacies, each Roman had to purchase a slaves from Auctioneer Jack Brooks. The final bids for such valuable merchandise ranged from 5c to $3.50.

After paying exorbitant prices for their slaves, the citizens put them to work serving dinner; some owners even made them grovel or push radishes covered with soot across the floor. And, of course, the slaves were persuaded to provide the evening's entertainment.

In their program the slaves presented Juppiter, King of the gods, who summoned the other gods and commanded them to do their stuff. They presented an original program embracing the fields of music, poetry, and the dance. For the finale they produced a rerun of Atalanta's race complete with a suitor's death, Venus's blessing, and the three golden apples of Hippomenes.

Of course, the slaves enjoyed themselves as much as their masters, and they'll be anxious to turn the tables on next year's freshman class by putting its members through the same ordeal.

BAND

Who's that marching down the street? No, it's not good old Organ-Grinder Pete; it's the Gould Academy band—one of the most active organizations on campus. Each year the band plays an important role in many of the campus activities, from football rally parades to bonfires, from half-time entertainment to victory marches. The band is always there with bright, brass instruments and blue and gold uniforms, led by its drum major, Dave Kibbe, bring with it moral support and plenty of spirit for the team.

Band activities do not cease with football games, however. The band also performed at the annual Christmas concert, "Amahl and the Night Visitors", presented this year by the school's musical organizations. Last year the band played an important part in the musical "Brigadoon" and is presently working on "Carnival." The band also rendered several selections at the annual one-act plays. Taking time out from its busy schedule, the band also performs at all home basketball games.

Yes, hats off to the band. From September to June the band, under the direction of James Owen, is always on the go, working so hard as everyone else and contributing much to the Gould Academy Campus.

ACADEMY HERALD

Under the guidance of Mrs. Gibbs, the faculty advisor, and Greg Glines, this year's editor, the Herald Staff is formulating plans for the organizing and writing of the yearbook. Pictures have already been taken, and now all that remains is to write, edit, and organize the articles themselves.

The group responsible for planning and laying-out the Academy Herald is composed of Minda Baer, Bill Boynton, Sue Brown, Laurel DesRoches, Sue Gould, Di Harris, Alan Howard, Sally Kinne, John Lombard, Ruth MacQuinn, Gordon Manuel, Joy Moore, and Gertrude Waldron. Working side by side with them are other staff members who are as follows:

Senior Persons: Karen Young, chairman; Ralph Ogden, Billy Keoskie, Anna Thompson, Ray Halperin, Dave Kibbe, Sue Bartash, Cindy Chayer, Paula Frankeviez.

Reportorial Staff: Martha Laws, Caren Carswell, Betsey Crane, Linda Jackson, Charlie Jacobs, Alan Swan, Anne Scribner, Larry Billings, Diane Burrill, Gene Tebbets, Ruth Tebbets, Jack Andrews.

F. H. A.

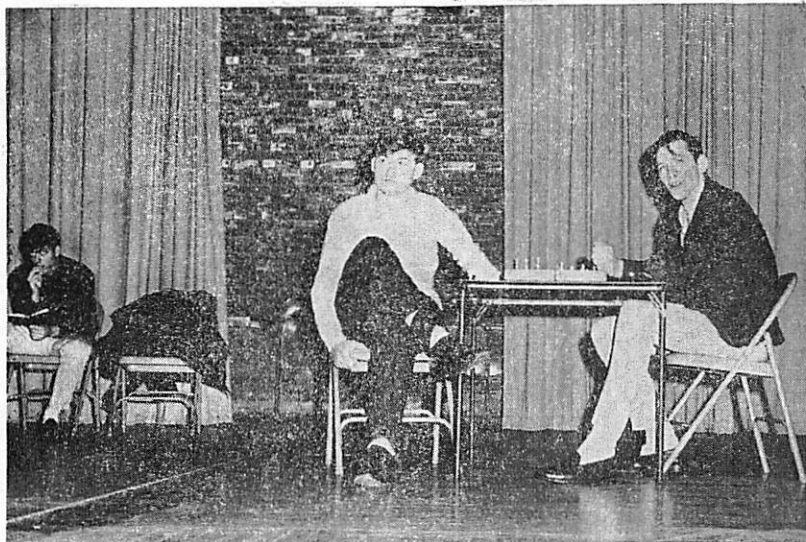

For our Christmas project this year, the F. H. A. girls helped out the Bethel Health Council. They made woolen blankets and pajamas for the needy people. The material was given by Iva Bean of Bethel.

The Program of Work Committee of the chapter has had several meetings outside the chapter meetings. This committee is a group of girls that plan the activities for the year. They have planned a number of activities for the girls to do.

On February 4, 1965, the Chapter Mothers, Mrs. Hutchinson, Mrs. Nickerson, Mrs. Chayer, our advisor, Miss Minot, and a few other mothers met at the home of Mrs. Hutchinson to plan projects for the F. H. A.ers. They came up with a number of ideas and one of them was to have an advisory board. This is to be made up of some of the mothers and they are to help and advise the girls in any way possible.

Typists: Judy Lapham, Martha Stowell, Beverley MacArthur, Esther Harrington.

ONE-ACT PLAYS

On Saturday, February 13, in Bingham Auditorium the three one-act plays combining elements of comedy and drama were presented by members of the Senior class. Under the direction of Mr. David Thompson these plays gave seventeen seniors an opportunity to appear in a wide variety of roles, as well as adding variety to the schedule of entertainment designed to make use of the auditorium's splendid facilities. Between the plays the Gould band, under the direction of Mr. James Owen, played a variety of numbers including Irish Folk Suite, Carnival and Oh, Comrade.

The first play, "Two Crooks and a Lady," had a cast consisting of Gordon Manuel, Sallie Kinne, Jane Look, Karen Young, and Ralph Ogden. This play was a melodrama in which two thieves, intent on stealing a necklace from a wealthy paragon grand dame, are entrapped by their own greed.

"Ah, Sweet Mystery," the second play, had a large cast of extremely weird characters in a truly hilarious farce. In this play were seen James Clifton, Nancy Fox, Mary Steidl, Linda Lord, Ruth MacQuinn, Sue Bartash, Tyler Moses and Ray Halperin.

The last play was "The Game of Chess," with the scene laid in the days of Czarist Russian. The small cast included Tim Wiles, Jack Andrews, John Goodrich and Tom Daye. Mr. Thompson has entered this play in the One-Act Play Tournament held in mid-March.

Thanks to the skillful direction of Mr. Thompson and the perseverance of the casts, the 1965 Senior One-Act plays were a tremendous hit.

MR. VACHON

On January 11, Mr. Vachon presented a travelogue of the south of France and Switzerland, Spain and Monaco. Including a bit of background information with each slide, he showed the French Riviera, the Basque region in the Pyrenees between France and Spain, the tiny principality of Monaco, and many other scenes. He also showed the different types of buildings from village homes in Spain to the world famous Monte Carlo. Mr. Vachon concluded his talk with slides of a train which would carry him to Switzerland through a tunnel many feet deep within a mountain.

On February 1, he presented another travelogue, this one on England. Among the many slides were sights familiar to all tourists — Buckingham Palace, Hyde Park, Big Ben, and Piccadilly Square. He also showed different schools and their uniforms, telling a little of the appearance of the school-rooms.

Both of these assemblies were very informative and were enjoyed by both the students and faculty.

DRIBBLING, SHUSHING, AND SWAYING

Basketball, skiing, and modern dancing have been the focal points of the sports program this winter.

Each afternoon the classes battled each other, preparing for victory in the peg games. The competition was close; nerves were taut as the "peg" approached. The junior class pulled out ahead to the glory mark, winning the peg tournament. Sophomores placed second; the freshmen third; then came the mighty seniors in a disastrous fourth place. Each class tried hard and pushed for victories, but somehow the united juniors led the pack.

The Girls' Ski Team placed first in the state meet. Congrats, bombers. Laurel DesRoches and Barrie LeJohnson were chosen for the Easterns. The snow conditions have been discouraging but we're still hoping for good spring skiing.

Dip and slide . . . one, two three, . . . The modern dancers all at it again. Faithfully they sway with the music. Each girl is aided in personal grace, agility, and poise.

Now apparatus has commenced along with badminton and ping-pong. The girls should be kept busy as they gain skill along with good sportsmanship.

MR. PAUL DOHRETY

On January 18, Mr. Paul Doherty, a conservation officer from New Hampshire, spoke in a morning assembly, telling about the Allagash region of northern Maine. In three different years, along with several other interested men, he had spent two weeks in that area partly because few men had spent time there during the winter months and few photographs of winter in that region existed. This journey was made when the temperature in the early morning averaged about 25 below zero. He described much of the land and many of the slides were of old logging tracts and towns deserted when that business died out. Mr. Doherty proved to be an entertaining speaker and he was greatly enjoyed by everyone.

GIRLS' DORM PARTY

The Girls' Dorm Party was held on the night of January 30, 1965. It started at 5:45 with a delicious supper of crabmeat salad, chicken salad, french fries, tomatoes, hot rolls, pecan pie, toll-house cookies and ice cream with 4 different sauces and nuts. Room inspection was held after supper and the rooms all were really attractive.

The theme of the Dorm Party was "1984" and the decorations were excellent, consisting of bars over the windows, a "Big Brother" sign, a low ceiling and other things pertaining to 1984.

Two skits were held after room inspection and then a band, the surprise of the evening, arrived. They were "The Exceels" from Brunswick and were very good. During their break, the other skits were held, and then dancing resumed. The party lasted until 11:30 and was a real success. (As a matter of fact it was much better than the Boys' Dorm Party, but we won't tell them!)

ANNA THOMPSON

Anna T., in various circles better known as "Squirt" or the "Great Pumpkin," is one of Gould's most energetic and talented faces. This is her second year here in Bethel, her hometown is Washburn, Maine—"up in potato country." Next year Anna will begin college at Colby; her chosen profession is teaching elementary French. In school her favorite subjects are French and English.

We all know eighteen-year-old Anna's great love—music! She already plays the organ well enough for school assemblies and church every other Sunday, the clarinet well enough to play in last year's "Brigadoon" and this year's "Amahl and the Night Visitors," and this ambitious girl is learning the baritone sax for the coming "Carnival." Her sophomore year and junior year she attended All-State; this year she is the secretary of the Chapman Club.

Sports are a part of all our lives, and Anna's no exception. Her favorites are archery, basketball, tennis, and softball for intramural sports and during the summer, riding and swimming. Anna is on the executive council of the Outing Club, treasurer of the Girls' Dorm Council, and is on the Herald Staff (Senior Personals). With all these time-consuming activities, she also waits-on and keeps up rousing rounds of cribbage with her roommate.

DAVE WELLS

One of the familiar faces seen on the Gould campus is that of Dave Wells. Dave lives in Plainfield, New Jersey and has been at Gould for two years. Some of Dave's activities include the Student Activity Council, French Club, and the Outing Club as well as participating in basketball and track.

Dave's choice of a college is St. Lawrence University which is located in Canton, New York. After college he hopes to work in the American Field Service or the Peace Corps.

Whatever field Dave enters, however, it is certain that he will display as much pep and enthusiasm there as he has done during his two years at Gould.

SALLIE KINNE

A very familiar face seen on the Gould Academy campus is that of Sallie Kinne. Sally is a 4-year senior who lives in Hanover, Maine.

During her four years at Gould, Sally has been involved in many school activities. During her senior year, she was elected treasurer of the Girls' Athletic Association, which also includes her membership to the G. A. A. Council. Glee Club, senior one-act plays, Herald staff, and the Blue and Gold are other activities she participates in.

As for sports, she is in them all. She has played softball, volleyball, hockey, tennis, basketball, and has taken part in modern dance during her four years here.

Whenever there is a football game or basketball game, you can count on Sallie being there with all the enthusiasm and pep possible. Yes, Sallie is a cheerleader, and a good one at that! Sallie is behind her school all the way.

Next year Sallie hopes to further her education by attending one of the four colleges she has applied to. Her choices are Alma College in Alma, Michigan; Ithaca College in Ithaca, New York; Hartwick College in Oneonta, N. Y., and the University of Maine. Sallie's future profession at the present is undecided but I am sure whatever it may be, she will be sure to come through with flying colors. From the students of Gould, we wish her all the luck in the world.

DEPARTED DAYS

Yes, dear departed, cherished days,
Could Memory's hand restore
Your morning light, your evening rays
From Time's gray urn
once more,—
Then might this restless heart
be still,
This straining eye might close,
And Hope her fainting pinions fold,
While the fair phantoms
rose,

But, like a child in ocean's arms,
We strive against the stream,
Each moment farther from the shore
Where life's young fountains gleam;—
Each moment fainter wave the fields,
And wider rolls the sea;
The mist grows dark,—the sun goes down,—
Day breaks,—and where are we?

Oliver Wendell Holmes
The truth of this poem is abounding, and yet how often youth wishes time away. Everyone is in such a rush to be older, more sophisticated

Don't wish time away! It goes too quickly as it is. Life—each hour, each day—has much to offer. Sometimes we have to look for it, sometimes we have to pre-empt it. The challenge is ours; it is up to each one of us to meet it. Can we afford to lose one precious minute? Or will we, too, be asking ourselves one day, "Where are we?"

NANCY FOX

A familiar sight on the Gould campus is the sunny face of Nancy Fox. Foxy has been active in sports and the Girls' A. A. during her four years at Gould and has been a cheerleader for the past three years. An excellent student, Foxy's name usually appears on the Honor Roll, and she was elected to the National Honor Society her junior year. Foxy is a member of the chorus and participated in the production of "Brigadoon" and "Amahl."

Foxy's loves are music and all sports, especially skiing. She plans to attend the University of Maine where she wants to major in French. Foxy has done well at Gould, and we're sure that she will continue to do so in the future.

ALAN HOWARD

A familiar face around our campus is that of Alan Howard, alias Pud.

Alan is very talented in the field of music and has made many outstanding appearances on our stage. He has been a member of Chapman Club for three years and is now serving as its president. Also, he has been chosen to be a member of the All-State Chorus this spring, making it three years in a row.

Many of you remember the fine job Alan did in both "Brigadoon" and "Amahl." We are all looking forward to seeing him portray Jacques in "Carnival" this spring.

Alan was manager of the Ski Teams his sophomore and junior year. During the recent National Honor Society Installation, he had the honor of being tapped.

Outside Gould, Alan is very active with the Boy Scouts. He has helped with troops in his hometown of Orrington, Maine, and has also worked at National Jamborees.

Next year Alan would like to further his education at either Bates or St. Lawrence University, Bates being his first choice.

We all wish him the best of luck in whatever field he enters.

SENSE OF WHERE YOU ARE — LES STEVENS

One of Gould's few true individuals goes by the name of Leslie Elmo Stevens. He is an individual in that he has a great and sincere dedication to sports. He is an individual in that he speaks what he thinks and believes in what he thinks. He is an individual in that he follows what he believes.

Coming to Gould his sophomore year, Les first gained recognition on the football field as a varsity end and has kept this position since. He has also been familiar for the last three years on the basketball court where he stands out among high school players as always having superb form and poise. Recognition of his athletic prowess came when he was elected captain of this season's basketball team and elected to the athletic council.

In other areas he also stands out among his fellow students. Elected class president his junior year, he attempted a novelty at Gould, to lead his class as a president should. Academically he is first rate. He was elected to the National Honor Society his junior year and his name is usually on the honor roll.

His future? Probably Dartmouth College in the fall. And after that? Les is uncertain but if his career at Gould is any indication, he'll succeed at whatever he tries.

BOUNCERS' BUBBLE BURST

The Huskies were downed by Mexico here Tuesday, December 15, by a score of 78-28. The visitors dominated the scoring in each quarter. This was the seventh game for the visitors and only the third for the Huskies. This clearly showed as Stanley of Mexico got the first basket and a foul shot before the first quarter really got underway. Mexico placed four men in double figures led by Comeau while high for Gould had only eight points. The Huskies showed real promise in the third quarter as they worked together, but the attempt was to no avail. The box score:

Whoosssshhh and away they go; they're off to win another ski meet. No matter where they go the G. A. shushboomers leave their mark. This year they have tallied up first in every meet thus far. Skiing against schools such as Kent's Hill, Waynflete, Kennett, St. Mary's in the Mountains, Rumford, and Wilton isn't too easy; however, when you have morale boosting Mr. Thompson and screaming Uel, the going doesn't seem half as painful.

Now, let me tell you a wee bit about the girls who make up the team. Let's see... tell me, Laurel, what was that reason for being temporarily discharged from the team? I hear that somehow you were on the wrong course. What's this about "shop and shave" stores, Eileen? Som, how about using Uel's technique? It is said that if Sarge gets mad, she really goes. How about it, girls? Steidl, why do you insist on calling Carolyn Conner—Twitchell? Heidi Glines may be on the shy side, but she's a stick of dynamite when she's whipping through those gates. Hey, Joyous, when are those tight dungarees going to cut off your circulation? What other illustrious characters are left? Johnson, we hear that you could beat the lift with your fast herringbone. Leaving the funny stories, we find a sad one; the fact that Jane Howe broke her ankle certainly brings a dark cloud over the sky. She constantly placed highly in the meets.

The girls' team pushes onward; neither snow or wind nor rain nor storm will stop these gals on their foremost goal—to win the state meet. Good Luck, bombers.

Gould Academy took the Slalom by a score of 97.33 to 96.92 at Sunday River January 16 to clinch a 294.73 to 292.68 victory over Holderness. Gould took six out of the first ten places in the event. Gould's first two men, Hunter and Langley, second and third respectively. Gould took the jumping by a score of 97.68 to 97.21. Bates (G) took first place with a score of 135.3. Swain and Saunders, also of Gould, took fourth and fifth with scores of 131.9 and 131.2. Gould also took the cross-country by a score of 99.72 to 98.55. Tebbets and Saunders, both of Gould, took first and second.
